A publication of The Cumberland Presbyterian Church

Volume LVI, No. 31

This week Pastor Micaiah delivered a sermon about how God goes about feeding us. It doesn't always look like we might expect—sometimes it's little more than a hard-shell black bean taco—but God provides for us in ways beyond what we can imagine.

One of the most powerful places God feeds us is in worship. With that in mind, Pastor Micaiah and I have been hard at work on a worship and Christian Education series for this coming fall—Worship Elements!!!

Every part of our Sunday morning worship service has an important purpose behind it. Together we are called to worship, we confess our sins and are assured of forgiveness, we pass the peace and return an offering to God, we hear a sermon and sing hymns. In each of these there is something about God's relationship with us and God's desire to feed us at work.

So this fall we will be spending several weeks pulling apart these different elements of worship. Each week we will engage one or two, and unpack why it is important to the Christian life.

We are incredibly excited about this Worship Elements series. Both of us have already been touched by the power of worship at SCPC, and trust that as we explore what God is up to, we will find Him at work more and more!

What is it: A Christian Education and Worship Series on what we do on Sunday mornings.

Where: Scottsboro Cumberland Presbyterian Church—315 S. Kyle Street.

Who: Your friendly Cumberland Presbyterians in town. All visitors welcome!

When: Sundays, from September 20th through November 15th. The series will be taught in Sunday School at 9:45 and will be a part of the worship service at 11.

Kick-Off: We will kick-off the series on Sept. 13 at 12 noon after church. There will be food, games, and activities. ALL families welcome!

@SCPC, we have great chemistry ;)
